High Rents Hurt General Business

The raising of rents beyond a reasonable amount effects the entire public. The tenant is compelled to deprive his family and himself of many of the comforts they have been accustomed, and all of the luxuries, to add to the riches of the avaricious landlord, who already may have more than he can use. It is fair and right that the property owner should receive a good return on his investment, over and above the expense of maintenance, taxes, interest and overhead, but that he should compel a tenant to pay unreasonable rental, in fact all that he can squeeze out of people who have no place else to go, is about as mean as usury and bootlegging combined. It is common to hear of cases where the rentals have been doubled and tripled and even more, and no owner can justify such robbery under the plea that his expenses have raised in proportion. Many business men have been forced out of business by the exorbitant demands of their landlord and hundreds more of tenants have been forced into cheaper, unsanitary and less desirable homes, where they cannot give their families the advantages of education or companionship they are accustomed to, and entitled to, and where the environment may work moral ruin to the boys and girls of the family, as well as jeopardize their health. The landlord who goes on the principle that he should get all that he can, instead of only what he is justly entitled to, may go to church six times a week and four times on Sunday, but he has no more chance of salvation than a bootlegger or other highwayman. The rents in this town are unreasonable, and the people generally are suffering for it. The conscienceless landlord may boast of his patriotism and what he is doing to build up the community, but the truth is he is the greatest wrecker and hindrance we now suffer from. He may lay the blame on his agent, but everyone knows his agent cannot charge more than his principal demands. It is the owner and he alone that is to blame.

School Vacations Begin Tonight

All of the public and parochial schools will be dismissed this evening for the regular one week spring vacation. This is to give the pupils an opportunity of assisting their families in moving and house cleaning, and is a boon both to the children and their parents.

Set the Clocks Up An Hour Saturday Night

April 27th is the time to set your time pieces forward an hour to comply with the daylight-saving plan legally adopted now. We don't know if the sun will pay much attention at mere man's attempt to steal an hour of daylight or not, but we do know it means tumbling out of the hay an hour earlier, which of course has its consolation in an extra hour in the evening.

Why Not Close the Sources of Crime?

Chief of Police Collins and the higher police authorities are unanimous in their opinion that most of the worst criminals have their "hold outs" in the pool rooms and so-called "soft drink parlors." Knowing this to be true, and it can be very easy of proof in many cases at least, why are not the sleuths put to sleuthing and getting the goods on them? It seems that when the authorities have reached that close a solution of the crime situation, it would be easy to solve it by abolishing the source, and closing every one of these places where criminals are known to consort. It does not take much wisdom to learn that the so-called soft drink saloons could not keep open and make a dollar if they sold only "soft" drinks and from the appearance of those seen frequenting most of them, their sofest drink must be mighty hard. In every write up of a murder and robbery, the criminal is traced to either a pool room or soft drink saloon, which is in many cases also the political center of the precinct. Any place where criminals are known to congregate comes easily under the statutes governing nuisances, if nothing else, and closing these places and enforcing the vagrancy laws would soon rid the city and county of the gang of young criminals who are now disgracing our city. Mayor Dever when he put his hand to the helm, soon dried up most of the blind pigs, and we think he should do the same with their co-laborers, and make a clean sweep of the whole unlawful element. The police individually will not move in these matters, fearing decapitation at the hands of the higher up patrons of them, who seem stronger in the law than the courts themselves, but the real authorities, the top notchers, could do it, and without fear of political suicide, as the people of Chicago would stand back of them, and endorse at the polls their honesty and faithful performance of their duty.

Motor Busses Very Hard On Boulevards

The convenience to the general public of the motor busses cannot be questioned, but some means should be discovered to make them less ruinous to the paved boulevards. That part of the South Park system traversed by the busses show the disastrous effect their heavy wheels have had on the pavements, as that part untraveled by them is much less worn. It occurs that if this cannot be remedied, they should pay a tax sufficient to reimburse the park board for the extraordinary wear their continuous travel causes. A payment of the mere state and city license is not nearly enough to cover their damage, and the matter should be adjusted in some satisfactory way. The present paving was not built to stand heavy traffic, and the busses are as heavy as mercantile trucks, and driven much more rapidly, all of which goes to tear up the light top dressing of the paving.

It All Depends

The kind of mortuary service that is rendered depends upon many factors: experience, equipment and personnel, for example. It is frequently advisable to make sure of the qualifications of the mortician in your community before calling upon any of them, but when the need arises there is not time. Our suggestion would be to make your selection beforehand: it is an assurance of satisfaction.

Our Weekly Poems

MORNING SONG

There's a mellower light just over the hill,
And somewhere a yellower daffodil.
And honey, somewhere, that's sweeter still.

And some were meant to stay like a stone,
Knowing the things they have always known,
Sinking down deeper into their own.

But some must follow the wind and me,
Who like to be starting and like to be free,
Never so glad as we're going to be!

Death of Colonel Everest

Colonel J. G. Everest, one of Englewood's pioneers, passed away last Thursday at his home, 6611 Yale ave., at the age of 90 years, and his funeral occurred Friday afternoon. Col. Everest traveled west in 1859, crossing the plains to Colorado, and enlisted in the early part of the Civil war, serving four years with gallantry and won his commission. After the war he settled in Chicago and has resided here ever since, although his duties as a commissioner of the United States government to look after public parks and soldiers' cemeteries took him away a great share of his time. He was general passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. He leaves besides his wife, his daughter, Mrs. Charles Newman. Mrs. Jarvis Weed was also a daughter.

Dr. Charles MacLellan Passes On

Many of our readers will remember Dr. Charles MacLellan, who lived for many years on Wentworth ave., just south of 69th st. He died last Saturday at Townsville, Australia, and his remains will be brought to Englewood for burial. Dr. MacLellan was a most interesting character, a perfectly educated gentleman of the old school; a physician of acknowledged ability and a writer on many subjects. He was born in Grenock, Scotland, in 1844, and after living in Canada some years, at Trenton, Ontario, he came to Chicago in 1891, and later returned to Canada before starting on his extensive travels. He leaves three children, Augusta G., Charles A. and Kenneth F., all of whom were educated in the schools of Englewood. The Times will publish later notice of the time and place of his funeral.

Death of Edgar Taylor Wheelock

This veteran old time printer and newspaper man, one of the best known in his profession, passed away suddenly at his home, 517 64th st., Saturday last, and his funeral occurred from Lanyon's chapel Monday, the remains being cremated, according to his wish, at Oakwoods crematory. Mr. Wheelock was 71 years of age and after serving some years, as a "jour" printer entered the editorial field on different Wisconsin publications, among which was the Milwaukee Sentinel. He was a man of great general information, and an able writer. He spent the last twelve years of his life in Chicago and continued his special newspaper work almost up to the time of his death. He left a daughter, Miss Emma Houston Wheelock of Englewood, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Louise Osler of Milwaukee.

"The Clodhopper"

On Tuesday, May 6th, the B. Y. P. U. of the Englewood Baptist church will present the three act comedy drama, "The Clodhopper," at the Englewood Masonic temple, 6730 Wentworth ave. The proceeds will be used to send delegates to the national convention in Denver this July.

The Weekly Poem

OL' BILL
By Bill Adams

Ol' Bill he's having a reg'lar time,
A-living ashore,
A-sitting all day, till it's suppertime,
By the pen door.

He says that maybe there'll be some lad
That he used to know
Will be passing by, and that he'll be glad,
For he's longing so

To hear a man tell of a ship at sea,
And a noisy wind
And another ship racing down to lee,
And the gulls behind.

There are flowers that bloom by the open door,
And the grasses grow,
And the song birds sing in the trees ashore,
And the breezes blow.
But ol' Bill, he don't care for none of them.
He just likes to wait
For the steps of wandering sailormen
By the garden gate—

And he says that there's flowers upon the sea
That are blue and white,
And a better than April mystery
In an ocean night.

And he talks of the ships that pitch and dive
With their sails ashine,
As if they were all of them things alive
In the rolling brine.

And the folks that passes, they turn to stare
And to smile at Bill.
"Why, there's that old sailor, I do declare,
A-settin' there still!"

And Bill he's having a reg'lar time
A-living ashore,
A-sitting all day, till it's suppertime.
By the open door.

The Last Chance

March 18, 1924

Editor Englewood Times:

Sometimes it seems next to impossible to believe that Englewod has within its confines owners of flat buildings who, for the past six years, have victimized and robbed the poor tenants of millions of dollars by constant raising of rents, and yet this is true and cannot be denied. The thought of "Man's Humanity to Man" never enters the minds of these pirates, and they are permitted to go on and on, without the least molestation, fearing nothing, no mayor or city council to relieve the situation and no legislation to pass a law giving the city council power to regulate rents. For the past year our mayor has done nothing traction problems, the dry law, and various other problems, until they have become a stench in the nostrils of the public, while the tenants of Chicago are patiently waiting but deal out slush on subways, for action to curb the gouging landlord.

The real estate agents of Englewood are in a measure partly responsible for present conditions. We know of several instances where the more conservative landlords have been urged to "keep on raising" by agents having no interest whatever in the property. Such cases will be investigated.

As the matter now stands the tenants are compelled to paddle their own canoe. But let each tenant stand pat. Pay no increase and stay where you are. If necessary the court will grant you a six months stay of execution. In the meantime pay your present rent only.

Let's just put a few questions to the landlord, and if he's a man possessed of a warm heart (?) he may possibly relent and reduce your rent a few dollars:

"Don't you suppose your tenant wants to save a few dollars for a rainy day so that when old age overtakes him he and his family (like yourself) can live in comfort and ease?"

"In the summer months, May to November, when you're not burning an ounce of coal, can't you make a reduction of $10 per month during these months so that your tenant can purchase a few articles of wearing apparel for wife and children?"

"You pay your just debts and still have a surplus left for recreation and enjoyment, while your tenant toils day after day without even a thought of vacation, to say nothing of meeting his obligations. Will you give him a chance to rest and allow him to enjoy the fruits of his labor?"

"Isn't it a fact that you have a sort of 'hoarding disease' which medical skill has failed to conquer, and you lie awake at night thinking of the prospects for 1925?"

We want to help those who need help, do what we can in a charitable way to alleviate the distress of the toilers of our great city, and by all means fight the leeches that are drying up the veins in the human system. The renting situation of Chicago is a disgrace to civilization. A blush of shame should pervade the atmosphere of the landlord's home.

And in the end what have you gained? Absolutely nothing. The cash in bank, stocks and bonds and the building that fleeced the tenants are left behind, and it's a foregone conclusion that your beneficiary will gloat over your demise, and will make your trip across the river Styx a more pleasure excursion toward a heavenly reward for virtue.

This article is intended only for the higher-ups, the big fellows, the large flat owners, whose buildings were erected years ago at a nominal cost, who take pride in gloating over their success, and who continually harp on extortionate taxes as their only excuse, when at the same time every raise in rents nets them 50 per cent more profit.

A Tenant.

You Have My Permission

To the Editor of Englewood Times:

Everyone is more or less proud of their homes in Englewood be they ever so humble, brick or frame, and the city requires that we get permits before building. Being a property owner in Englewood I am naturally a booster for Englewood, even to the Times, and was really agreeably surprised and delighted this afternoon when I picked up your sheet and read your complimentary remarks relative to the conflagration which will be caused in Englewood unless the frame buildings which are hidden away on rear lots are removed. If you really, seriously object to frame buildings why not move, Mr. Sullivan? The neighborhood suits me fine and I shall rebuild my garage in the near future to suit my own taste after adhering to city requirements and shall be glad to know whether or not it meets with your approval.

Very respectfully yours,
A. W. Evans,
6115 Stewart Ave.

Advertising Signs to Go From Roads

That the advertising sign at the side of the road may prove a detriment to the thing advertised instead of promoting sales, is being more and more recognized by large users of bill-board space. It is being brought home to advertisers that road users hotly resent the blatant sign covering up a beautiful vista or profaning a lovely landscape.

Co-operation in sign removal has had unexpected impetus from the Standard Oil Co., on the Pacific coast, which has decided to eliminate certain objectionable signs from the highways.

"Convinced that highway advertising signs detract from the natural beauty of the great routes of travel of the Pacific coast," says an official of Standard Oil, "this company has decided that it will erect no more such signs and that it will immediately remove all of its signs of this nature now standing. Hereafter the company will confine the use of signs to commercial locations. This company was among the first of the oil concerns to engage in this form of advertising and is now glad to be the first to discontinue it."

Nearly 1,200 large, round permanent signs in California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, and Arizona are consigned to the axe by a general order.

Ute Pass, near Colorado Springs, has for long been defaced with a large number of signs. Recently the Colorado Automobile club, which is deeply interested in the work of beautifying highways, removed more than one thousand signs from the pass. At the same time the club ordered ten thousand trees to be planted in nurseries and later used to embellish the roads leading to Colorado Springs.

Opening Union Avenue Through South

Investigation of this long drawn out effort shows that the small property owners in the immediate vicinity of Union ave. between 61st and 63rd sts. have sufficient influence to stop the work, and it looks now as if it would never be opened unless it is done as a city improvement with a general levy of taxes to pay for it. It is thought that the assessment would be too heavy for the property in the immediate neighborhood to bear, and the benefit would not be confined to this neighborhood only, so that all property benefited should help pay for the opening of the three blocks. This opening is an absolute necessity for the south side, as the congested condition of Halsted st. proves, and there is no north and south thoroughfare between Halsted and Stewart ave. at present, as Normal blvd. may not be used for traffic. The levy if spread over twenty blocks either way would be so small that no one would feel it, and not a piece of property within that limit but would benefit greatly by the opening. Alderman Lyle could render the best work of his life by taking up this important work and carrying it through to completion. How about it, John?

Citizens' Military Training Camp

The young men of the country, especially Englewood, are offered a wonderful opportunity of securing a full month's training from August 1 to 30 this summer at Camp Custer, Michigan. All expenses of transportation, uniforms, food and medical care is paid by the government, and the physical and military training is the best thing that can happen to our young men. These camps are of the highest morale, and any young man may go, confident that he will find the best ideals of the true American citizenship. Chaplains of various faiths, and hostesses of the regular army, are detailed for duty there. Ample opportunity is afforded for the reception of home vistors, and general athletics are in the regular course of training.

The object of these camps is to bring together young men of high type from all sections of the country on a common basis of equality and under the most favorable conditions of outdoor life; to stimulate and promote citizenship, patriotism, and Americanism; and, through expert physical direction, athletic coaching and military training, to benefit the young men individually, and bring them to realize their obligations to their country.

The Basic course is open to all men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four years, who are of sound character, intelligence and physical condition. No educational qualifications are prescribed for the Basic course, but each candidate must file a certificate of good character, signed by schoolmaster, clergyman, priest or rabbi, together with medical testimony from a qualified physician as to hearing, eyesight, heart action and a general physical condition adequately fitted for the course of training. No previous military training is required for attendance at this course. Candidates must be native born citizens, or if foreign born, must have made application at least for first papers of naturalization.

For admission to the Red course, candidates must have completed the Basic course or its equivalent of military training and have been recommended for the Red course. For admission to the White course, candidates must have completed the Red course or its equivalent of military training and have been recommended for the White course. For admission to the Blue course, candidates must have completed the White course or its equivalent of military training and have been recommended for the Blue course.

We hope that Englewood young men will be represented in the camp. No service obligation is implied or exacted, and all young Americans between the ages of 17 and 21 years are eligible.

Enrollment blanks and full particulars may be obtained by addressing the Commanding General, 6th Corps area, 1819 West Pershing rd., Chicago, Ill.

The Millionth Phone

The installation of the millionth telephone by the Illinois Bell Telephone in the state of Illinois is an era in modern methods of doing things. The fact that this instrument chanced to be installed in Peoria is a matter of local pride. But it marks, as before stated, an era in the progress of the world. The statement that there are more telephones in Illinois than in all of England, forcibly illustrates the difference in the way we do business in the United States and the "mother country."

And, in this connection, it may be well to call attention to the manner in which public utility corporations are managed. Every individual of voting age can well remember when every candidate for office made his campaign upon an "anti" platform; when the columns of the newspapers were filled with bitter diatribes against every public utility corporation. It was the popular thing then to hammer the street car company, the gas company, the water company, the telephone company, etc.

Yet these various corporations were furnishing then as now, the most vital essentials to every day existence. Now we do things differently, and better. Users of the commodities furnished by these companies receive courteous treatment.

The "public-be-damned" policy, all too often in effect, has been discarded. The representatives of these corporations make an earnest effort to see that the people get efficient service. Courteous employes and officials take plains to see to it that people get what they want or else they are courteously informed why it is impossible.

And, in this connection, it is pleasant to say that Mr. Treadway, the local manager of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, is an excellent example of the new type of official. No one was ever yet sent away from his office without every effort being made to satisfy that individual. Mr. Treadway has effectually "sold" the telephone company to the people of Peoria. The excellent relations existing between the people and his corporation are due in no small measure to his courtesy, ability and tact.—Editorial, The Peoria Star.

Paul Sternberg Comes to Stratford Theater

Joyous Eastertide brings to the patrons of the Stratford theatre, 63d st., near Halsted, the glad tidings that from this day on, Paul Sternberg shall preside over the musical destinies of this, one of the most pretentious of South side theatres.

Paul Sternberg laid the foundation for his prominence among theatrical conductors, when five years ago, he electrified South side theatre goers by his novel manner of handling screen accompaniments. But he attracted city and nation wide attention when he, about eighteen months ago, presented to Chicago vaudeville patrons, under the caption, "Paul Sternberg and his 27 artists in amplified syncopation," an entertainment so overwhelmingly interesting, that it set a standard of size and quality not yet reached by even the most pretentious orchestras in the country. Mr. Sternberg's singular talent in following up screen action with music and a certain style of injecting his musical personality into every musical sentence ought to make "ear" entertainment equally as interesting at the Stratford as its "eye" entertainment has always been.

Mr. Sternberg carries an orchestra of 28 musicians for "Stratford" entertainment purposes.

Fleur de Lis Dancing Studio

The private classes have grown so rapidly that a larger studio has had to be opened. The Fleur de Lis studio will be fully equipped to accommodate parents wishing to accompany their children. The Irish jigs and clogs are especially enjoyed by the younger children.

Miss Piton may be reached by phone at her home for appointments by calling Lafayette 6837, or correspondence to studio.

P. Rappaport Moving This Week

Finding his former location at 412 63rd st. too small for his ever increasing business, Mr. P. He manufactures all of his own garments in his own factory, and personally superintends every garment turned out, hence the excellence of his products. He also does remodeling and repairing at very reasonable rates and stores and insures furs of all kinds. He extends a cordial invitation to all Englewood people to call and see his new place, and get his estimates on any work desired.

Maurice Rappaport Buys On Halsted St.

Spring Dance Festival

The Hamilton Park community was delightfully entertained Wednesday evening of last week with interpretative dances given by the children of the community under the auspices of the Hamilton Park Woman's club. Mrs. C. A. Biehl has been chairman of the committee in charge of this branch of the club's activities during the past season, and she and her co-workers deserve a great deal of credit for the time spent by them at the field house in the interest of the club and community.

The costumes of the little folks were very effective, and the pageant throughout was well given, manifesting the thorough instruction received by the children under the direction of Miss Cecilia Foote.

One could just hear the pitter patter of the rain as the primary group did the "Dance of the Rain Drops." You felt as though you would like to join the beautiful white-robed group at "Skating" when the intermediates froliced hither and thither. "The Harlequin's Dream" by the advanced group carried you a bit beyond childhood's dreams. "My Little Yellow Duster," by intermediates, proved quite a surprise. "Some Funny Jingles" by the little tots, displayed a variety combination of Frogs, Mr. Duck and Mrs. Turkey. "The Crystal Gazers," by the advanced group, seemed very real until the pretty colored balloons burst. Lohengrin's Wedding March announced "A Marionette Wedding," and after the bride and groom and attendants were all assembled, you began to wonder whether there would be a wedding after all, when out marched the minister, and the ceremony was performed; the groom and minister certainly looked very cunning in their evening dress suits. After all, "School Days" are not to be forgotten—the sunbonnets to be tied, the tempting lips kissed, and the resounding slap on Ralph's cheek; but Ralph, remember, Kathryn didn't mean it—she was only teasing.

A FEW OF THE ABOVE BOOKS IN SHORT REVIEW

A Cure of Souls, Sinclair.

This story is surprisingly unlike Miss Sinclair's other novels. Her theme is written around an English country parish, and concerns the rector, Canon Chamberlain, who cared for nothing in the world but his own peace. His character and actions are described in pitiless detail, and the result of his indolent selfishness is shown with unsparing irony.

The Owl's House—Garstin. This is a vivid picture of life on the Cornish coast in the mid eighteenth century. The protagonists, Ortho and Eli Penhale, sons of a stout yeoman father and a half gypsy mother, grow to manhood engaging in all the pursuits, the occupations and recreations common to the time and place of living; farming, horse trading, wrecking, fishing, smuggling. Ortho is captured by pirates and sold as a slave in Barbery. His career there, his rise to high commands, winning of his wife, her death with that of his son and then his flight back to England make a very interesting and stirring tale.

Cynthia Stockley's "Garden of Peril" is another interesting romance of South Africa like her popular novel "Ponjola." There is an innocent Victorian maiden and a very beautiful vampish type of woman; there are two men to be fought for between them. The two men are cousins of good but improvident blood. The elder man has ruined his health, and has come to South Africa with the remnant of a fortune, a beautiful wife and with the possibility of coming into a title. A very pretty romance is woven, which comes out agreeably to the confusion of the vamp and to the triumph of the innocent maiden. This is a real good story with the beauty and settings of her former books.

Happy Isles—Basil King. When a baby Henry Whitlaw was kidnapped by a woman maddened by the loss of her own child. The story recounts his adventurous career in spite of which he develops into an upright young man, devoted to the memory of his foster mother and later refuses to accept the uncertain love of his rightful parents. It may be a little improbable but a ripping good story.

Mrs. John Philpott died at her home, 7230 Perry ave., Saturday, and was buried Monday from St. Carthage church. Interment was at Mount Olivet cemetery. She was the mother of Nicholas, John, William, Edward and Irene Philpott.

Easter Brides

Mr. Raymond Wilson of 6413 Lincoln st. and Miss Jessie McMillan of 6610 Laflin st. were united in marriage at the Drexel Park Presbyterian church Saturday, April 19, at 4 p. m. The wedding was supposed to be very simple and quiet, but their many friends decided it was not to be so. The choir of the church of which both were members assembled and sang for the occasion just before the wedding march and as they were leaving the church. Mr. R. H. Brooks, the organist, presided at the organ. After the wedding party reached the altar, Mrs. Katheryne Utesch sang "God Bless You." The service was then read by Rev. Clinton C. Cox. Both of the young people are well known and have the very best wishes of a host of friends. They will reside at 6610 Laflin.

Mr. Harold H. Hjersted and Miss Ruth Nelson were united in marriage at the Drexel Park Presbyterian church Saturday, April 19, at 5 p. m., Rev. Clinton C. Cox reading the service. They were attended by Mr. A. J. Nelson, brother of the bride, and Miss Edna Serson. The bride carried a bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and the bridesmaid, tea roses and sweet peas. The bride has been employed for some time by the Bethlehem Steel company and is very win-some. The groom is in the employ of the Axel Carlson Contracting company. They will reside at 5934 Elizabeth st.

Mr. Norman E. Robbins and Miss Mildred E. Luebking were united in marriage at the home of the bride, 5745 Ashland ave., Saturday, April 19, at 6 p. m. It was a beautiful home wedding arranged with care and beauty. They were attended by Mr. Walter Hanson and Mrs. Jessie Paul. Rev. Clinton C. Cox read the wedding service. After the wedding a very delightful wedding supper was served. They will reside at 5618 Elizabeth st.

Mr. Charlie W. Shaffer of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Laura Ferguson of 6643 Parnell were united in marriage at the home of the bride Saturday, April 19, at 8 p. m. Rev. Clinton C. Cox read the ring service, which made them man and wife. They were attended by Mr. Howard Ferguson and Miss Evelyn Houser. The wedding was a very beautiful home wedding. This stupendous affair is in charge of Miss Charlotte Dearstein, chairman of the dramatic committee. Don't pass it up.

Frank De Lugagh Offers Great Bargains

Mr. Frank De Lugagh, prominent Chicago real estate man, is now selling lots from a fine sub-division at 90th st. and South Park ave., for $590—$10 down and $10 a month.

These are choice lots and South Park ave., which is really a splendid boulevard in that section, fronts these lots; and the viaduct at 91st st., which is about to be fully opened, will enable auto drivers to drive long distances south on a fine boulevard.

You indeed have a rare opportunity to buy a choice lot at a bargain. Over half of them have been sold so don't delay in seeing them and making a purchase if you realize a good thing.

Communion Service

The communion service at the Drexel Park church Friday night, the 18th, was one of the most impressive services ever held in the church. A three o'clock service in a darkened church with a spot light was very beautiful. The largest class ever received was welcomed into the church, a group of 155. 167 was on the list but sickness and other things kept the others away. The Easter services were largely attended, many being turned away at the morning service. At both other services all that could possibly get in were crowded in.

American Legion Convention

The Convention committee of Englewood Post No. 61, The American Legion, report all arrangements have been completed for the reception of the Fourth American Legion District, Department of Illinois, on Friday evening, April 25. The Entertainment committee is working on the few last minute details that will cause the visitors to carry away with them the sweet dreams that they have been in Englewood as guests, if only for a few privileged hours.

The response from the business men has been characterized by the hearty "What can I do for you. Sure! I'm glad to do it. Tell the boys 'Hello' and I wish them good luck," and similar phraseology typical of Englewood spirit. This is the large factor contributing to the success of the convention, and for which the post expresses its deep appreciation.

Old timers tell us that this will be the greatest gathering of World War men in Englewood since (we'll never forget it) 1917 and '18. The delegations from the various posts bring to us the leadership and active fighting force of the territory bounded on the north by 55th st. (Garfield blvd.) and State st. on the east and extending forty miles south and west into the suburbs.

The sessions will be conducted in the Legion hall of the Englewood Business college, 735-741 Englewood ave., The local post's hall can accommodate 500. For the emergency the committee will hold an option on a theatre near by to take care of an overflow should the visitors overrun the estimated attendance. Admission is by cards and proper credentials only.

Program: Mounting of colors; ritual; O'Leary's Novelty Orchestra will furnish musical program; business session; obligation of candidates; initiation; eats.

As hosts Englewood Post is of course furnishing the eats that will match up the fare the convention has appreciated as the guests of the other communities, and what is a convention without "smokes." For this the local boys also kick in, assisted by the business men.

Englewood Post has the wrecking crew par excellence of the district, who will perfor mthe post mortem who will perform the post mortem reports from the district are correct. One post sends notification that it will be on deck with a truck load of candidates. The equipment is the best, and the crew is generalled by C. R. Edrington, himself, a past master in initiatory and degree work.

The Ladies' Auxiliary unit of Englewood Post will handle the eats and refreshments at the zero hour.

The General committee for the convention is as follows: Walter E. Troesch, chairman, C. R. Edrington, Fred Elzinga, Dr. S. Wall, Herbert Kester, Dr. Daniel Gordon.

It Was Ben Wilson That Secured Bridges

Chicago, Ill.
April 16, 1924.

Mr. Gerald Sullivan,
Editor Englewood Times,
730 W. 65th st.,
Chicago, Ill.

My Dear Gerald:

I notice in the last issue of your paper under the Auburn Park News an item regarding the accomplishment of Alderman McKinlay. I enclose you the clipping. I am asking you to have the item corrected, as Alderman McKinlay didn't have anything to do with it. I had the distinction of being the only alderman who was able to have the budget amended when it was up for passage, which was March 31, 1923, and the amendment that I had passed was for the construction of bridges in Auburn Park on Eggleston and Normal aves. I had worked very hard on this matter and had presented it to the council a couple of times before and the finance committee every time turned it down, but I was successful, as I say in getting it into the budget. This was one of my last acts as aldermen and I felt very gratified that I was able to do this because the bridges were needed very badly and I certainly do not care to have the credit go to a man who had nothing to do with it and the people of Auburn Park should be advised of this fact,

By doing this you will greatly oblige.

Yours very truly,
B. S. WILSON.
Former Alderman, 32nd Ward.

SULLIVAN'S SENSE AND NONSENSE

PUT 'EM AWAY

Put your hammer in th locker;
With your hand-axe do likewise;
Anyone can be a knocker.
Anyone can criticize.
Cultivate the building habit.
Though it hurts your face to smile;
At the start it may go awkward,
But you'll get it after while.

If you must rise early, be sure you are a bird and not a worm.

Some people are like cider—sweet enough until it is time to work.

money, but he can't go to heaven on his wife's religion.

It is the time of year when some people move from somewhere to somewhere else.

Remember we lose an hour Saturday night, if we live by our clocks, as they are setting hour ahead to comply with daylight saving.

A man may live on his wife's Some women read fiction stories and others just listen to their husbands making excuses for being out at night.

The baseball season warns us of the frequent funerals of the office boy's grandmother, and he isn't the only one who will lie to get away to a game.

Ludie Porter told me of a fellow who run his auto over a pedestrian and while the man was down under the car the driver shouted, "Say you! while you're down there take a look at my brake rods will you?"

Casey stepped on a street car passenger's foot while going west on a crowded 63rd st. car, and the man shouted: "Say, can't you see my feet?" Looking down, Casey answered, "No, Oi can't, ye's have shoes on 'em."

The Radio fiends a our office were discussing the distant places they could get on their pet machine, but Casey won the bun when he said, "Oi worr oop last noigh after midnight and makin' a noise to wake the childer' and I got h—l."

As a proof of her husband's great liberality a nice little Harvard Ave. lady said to me, "Why, you know that box of nice cigars I bought him for Christmas, they were beautiful and had nice red and gold bands on them and came in a pretty varnished box, well, he never smoked even one of them, but gave them to his friends."

Two men sitting in the corner of the railway compartment became engaged in an animated controversy, and their loud voices attracted the attention of all the others in the somewhat crowded carriage. Suddenly one of the men arose and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I appeal to you to decide the disputed point. My friend here insists that not more than three people out of every five believe they have souls. I take a more cheerful view of humanity than that. Will all of you who believe you have souls raise your right hand?" Every hand in the car went up. "Thank you!" he said, with a smile. "Keep them up just for a moment. Now, will all of you who believe in the hereafter raise your left hand? Thank you! And while you have your hands raised," he added, drawing two revolvers from his pockets, "my friend will relieve you all of whatever valuable articles you may have. Look lively, now, Jim: we're nearing the station!"

New Building to Replace Ruins

At last the ruins of the old Temperance hall at 230-32-34 63rd st. between Yale and Wentworth aves. are to be completely wrecked to make way for a new modern $50,000.00 building, and by the time this reaches our readers the wrecking crew may be at work. Dr. Robert A. Weir is the public benefactor who will make this great improvement to our principal business street. The proposed new building will have a frontage of seventy-two feet, and contain four store rooms and the second floor will be devoted to offices and apartments. Both Dr. Weir and the town are to be congratulated.

Le Cenacle

The illustrated lecture, "Your Trip to the 17th Biennial Convention," General Federation of Women's clubs, Los Angeles, Calif., was given last Sunday at the Field Museum, Grant park, under the auspices of Le Cenacle. The scenery was most gorgeous. One would imagine himself traveling and visiting Colorado Springs, Santa Fe, Grand Canyon, National Park, San Diego, San Francisco, Hawaii, Alaska. It will be a realization long remembered by our club women, who leave Chicago on May 27th for the 17th Biennial Convention; all Pullman special train de luxe, observation car, club car and Fred Harvey dining car, all to your delight.

Fine Kiwanian Luncheon

Tuesday the Englewood Kiwanis club again registered 100 per cent in attendance for the eighth time, and is now close to the lead for the awards of the International. Jim Monahan presided and introduced Rev. Brooks, the new pastor of the Englewood Baptist church, as a welcome visitor. A number of other guests were introduced by their hosts. Mrs. Ray Ballantine favored the club with several soprano solos accompanied by Miss Shearer. Now we know where Ray gets his musical taste, he keeps it in his wife's name, and it is well kept. The speaker of the day was Rev. Charles A. Gage, pastor of Hyde Park M. E. church and a Hyde Park Kiwanian. His humorous treatment of the subject of "Confidence and Faith" kept everyone in good humor, and at the same time had a telling effect. He afterwards led in the singing, and as he was chairman of the International Music committee, he proved his efficiency by his selections and rendition. At the meeting next Tuesday Jamie Heron, the witty Scotch entertainer and author of "The Measure of a Man," will be the speaker. Don't miss him. He's good.

Englewood Hospital Misrepresented

During the past few days stories have appeared in the Herald-Examiner, American and Daily News containing a statement that a baby was being forcibly detained at the hospital on account of the non-payment of a bill for its care. In order that the people of Englewood and the neighboring communities may be correctly informed the following statement of facts is submitted:

This baby was not detained, nor even threatened with detention at Englewood hospital on account of non-payment of bills or for any other reason.

No other person or patient has ever been forcibly detained in the hospital.

This baby was sent to the hospital by Dr. David Wilson at about 10 o'clock p. m., April 6, 1924, desperately ill with pneumonia. Its condition was so serious that it was necessary to place it in a private room with a special nurse. It was also understood by the hospital that bills for its care would be paid in the usual manner.

When the customary effort to secure payment of the first installment on the bill was made, the people with whom the child had been living, and whom we were then informed expected to adopt it, disclaimed responsibility for its care and referred us to the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. Upon communicating with this society by telephone we were informed that one of their representatives would call at the hospital.

On April 16, ten days after the admission of the baby to the hospital, the nurse who had been caring for the baby became ill and was obliged to leave the case. Up to this time she had received no pay for her services and neither had the visitor from the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society called at the hospital, nor had we been able to obtain any other information concerning this baby or any one who might be interested in it.

Dr. Wilson, upon being informed of these facts, paid the nurse for her services and the balance due the hospital up to that time.

On the morning of April 18, twelve days after the admission of the baby, a representative of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society did call at the hospital for the first time. All of the facts in connection with the case were related to her, and she also disclaimed responsibility for the care of the child. She was also told that while the child was not entirely well, it could be removed from the hospital at any time by the mother or any one else who might be legally entitled to do so.

During all this time the hospital had no information regarding the mother of the child, nor did she, so far as known, visit the baby.

The total bill of the hospital at this time was $80.70 instead of over $200 as reported in the newspapers.

After midnight that night (April 18) two men, two women (one represented as the mother of the baby) and a newspaper reporter appeared at the hospital with a writ of habeas corpus for the child, which was thereupon delivered to them.

Incidentally, and in spite of the fault found with the hospital up to this time, we also loaned these people a blanket to help protect the child from the cold and the possibility of a relapse. This blanket has not yet been returned.

South Park Ave. May Be Boulevarded

At the meeting of the South Park Board last Wednesday, the boulevarding of South Park ave. was considered and terms of agreement proposed, by which if the city will secure the vacation of the avenue from 69rd st. to Marquette rd. by the street railways, and widen the street to boulevard requirements, the Park Board will boulevard it to 113th st. and give the city a much needed outlet to the congested south side.

Applies Equally to Grown Folk

The arrival of warmer weather will bring more children out on the streets and parents should take extra pains to make their children realize the importance of "watching their step" while out of doors, according to L. B. Southerland, chairmand of the Chicago Automobile Trade association's safety committee.

Mr. Southerland said: "I am convinced that if parents took more time to teach their children to be more careful on the streets, or while playing out of doors, there would be a marked reduction in the number of fatalities in Chicago.

"It is not an uncommon sight to see a youngster dart in front of an approaching motor vehicle to get to his playmates on the other side or to get that ball which he failed to "catch." Boys are very often seen hitching onto spare tires of automobiles "bumming a ride."

"You really cannot blame the children for these errors. It is their nature to be more or less careless until the right and wrong of doing things is pointed out to them. This is where many parents are sadly lacking.

"At this time of the year when motor vehicle traffic is extremely heavy, children are in greater danger while out of doors; therefore they should watch their step and make every effort to stop, look and listen before crossing the streets.

"My suggestion to parents is this—take your children aside for a few moments a day and give them interesting and "story like" talks on safety. Impress upon them the injuries that have been inflicted on other children that you know of through being careless on the streets. If you read in the newspapers of a case where a child met with accident, tell your children about it. Get the principles of safety firmly embedded in their minds and you can rest assured that they will not take any chances.

"I also believe that it would be a good idea to appoint more student traffic police to take care of children during the luncheon and after school periods. A boy or two on every corner near the schools where the traffic is the least bit heavy would help matters quite a bit. School teachers could contribute much to the safety campaign if they would devote a few minutes a day to the discussion of this problem.

"In other words, keep on hammering the doctrine of safety into the minds of the children. If this is done the list of fatalities will show fewer children under ten or twelve years of age."

Englewood Commercial Ass'n

The meeting of the Englewood Commercial & Civic association Wednesday was the first in their new meeting place in George B. Dow's piano store, and was well attended, filling the new tables and chairs to the length of the dining room. Favorable reports were made as to the lighting of the railway subways, and improvements were noted. A letter was read from Chas. F. Manahan of Pasadena, Calif., and former president of the association. It was explained that the "Story of Englewood" might be procured at 728 65th st. or of the business manager of the Englewood Business Men's association over the Chicago City bank. An invitation was extended by the Englewood Kiwanis club to attend their luncheon Tuesday next at 12:15 p. m. at the Congregational church to hear Jamie Heron, the Scotch humorist and speaker. Mr. James Hughes, president of the First Englewood State bank, made a very interesting talk on local conditions, especially the financial and commercial standing of the community. A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Hughes, and other local merchants will be asked to address the association on local affairs. The next meeting will be held May 7th at the same location, and President Penhallegon promises a fine free lunch and a good speech as entertainment.

Old Englewood Resident Made Presidential Elector

Mr. William Sterling Battis, 6315 Yale ave., one of the old settlers of Englewood, was nominated at the state Republican convention in Springfield last Friday as presidential elector from the Third district, supporting President Calvin Coolidge for re-election.

One of the unique features of this nomination and one most pleasing to Mr. Battis is the fact that his name was presented to the committee by his son, Roy James Battis, who is ward committeeman for the 17th ward Regular Republican organization and who was at the convention elected secretary of the Presidential Electors' committee.

The entire Third district delegation was unanimous in approving the choice of their leader. Mr. Battis is known throughout the United States as "The Dickens Man," from his life-long work as interpreter of the works of Charles Dickens. He has entertained thousands of people interested in this great author and his many friends of Englewood are glad that this new distinction has come to him after all these years of service.

Mary A. White is superintendent of the present home at 140 South 5th ave., Maywood, and will be superintendent of the new home, which it is hoped will be ready for occupancy September 1.
